Beneteau Oceanis models such as the 390 have been the “go-to” for cruising couples and families for decades, and the reasons are clear. From “Reine de la Mer’s” luxuriously spacious interior layout to her sleek, elegant profile, her legacy is one of excellence, and her owners have taken great pride in her extensive refit. Combine that with her full cockpit enclosure that is extremely well thought out, her shiny hull and new sails and rigging, one gets the impression of a much newer boat stepping aboard.

Her interior is clean and inviting, with a spacious galley and aft cabin to starboard of the companionway. There is an unbelievably luxurious separate shower cabin to port- as well as a head to aft of the conveniently located chart table/nav center. Her interior wood accents are shiny with minimal wear and tear and every port and hatch has new canvas covers to protect the glass and interior from the elements. The Salon and forward stateroom are both incredibly comfortable, and there is plenty of storage throughout.

“Reine de la Mer” is now available for showing in St. Augustine, Florida.
